

APPROVED CORRESPONDENCE COURSES

THESE COURSES MAY NOT BE USED TO SATISFY A LABORATORY REQUIREMENT. The Environmental Health Specialist Registration Committee has approved the following correspondence courses to satisfy the education requirements of Health and Safety Code 106635. Only the stated course numbers are approved.

MICROBIOLOGY

Biol. 1100, Introduction to Microbiology, Utah State University, (800) 233-2137.

MATH

Math 1050, College Algebra, Utah State University, (800) 233-2137.

ORGANIC CHEMISTRY

Organic Chemistry X18, University of California Media and Independent Learning, Berkeley, CA, (510) 642-4124.

PHYSICS

Physics 2001, General Physics, Louisiana State University, (800) 234-5046.

BIOLOGY

Biol. 1009, General Biology (1601), University of Minnesota, (800) 234-6564.

The following courses apply only to OPTIONS III and IV. General basic science credit for Options I and II is not granted for these courses because they are considered applied science.

STATISTICS

STAT 2000, Statistical Methods, Utah State University, (800) 233-2137.

EPIDEMIOLOGY

PUBH 5020, Fundamentals of Epidemiology, Utah State University, (800) 233-2137.

PUBLIC HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

Pol Sci 350, About Public Administration, Ball State University, (800) 872-0369
Polsc 3700, Intro to Public Admin., Weber State University, (801) 626-6785.

To have a course, not listed above, approved for credit towards registration you must submit the course outline or syllabus. This applies to courses you have already completed and courses you are planning to enroll in. After we receive the course outline, a determination will be made whether the course meets the standards for course approval.